I don't know how to start. Your Really something special. (Don't let that go to your head.) You've Really been a super great friend and I think you know I love ya to death. Without you to help me make it through the Rough parts I don't know what would have happened. Thanks so much for being there when I've needed you so badly. You one friend that I'll never forget.

Your friend for life.

Love Ya always,

Spirit Rallied By Students And Faculty

Every Friday during football season, pep rallies are held to boost the Longview Lobos. The cheerleaders, pep squad, Viewettes, Greenjackets, band, student body and faculty, all participate. The Lobos remain no. 1 in our hearts.

Dedicated Lobo fans show support at pep rallies.

Pile 'em high, Lobos! . . . Varsity Cheerleaders.

LHS twirlers perform to everyone's favorite . . . "Le Freak."

Let's hear it for Daddy Doug! . . . Debbie Hidalgo.

Halftime Show Adds Excitement To Game

Another great performance chalked up by the Viewettes.

Long hours of preparation go into the halftime performances each Friday night. The Lobo Band works on intricate drills and exciting marches to entertain the crowd. The Viewettes practice many different kinds of dance routines which they perform to popular music. The majorettes either perform with the Viewettes or do a twirling routine. These dedicated students provide a brilliant show for the anticipating fans.

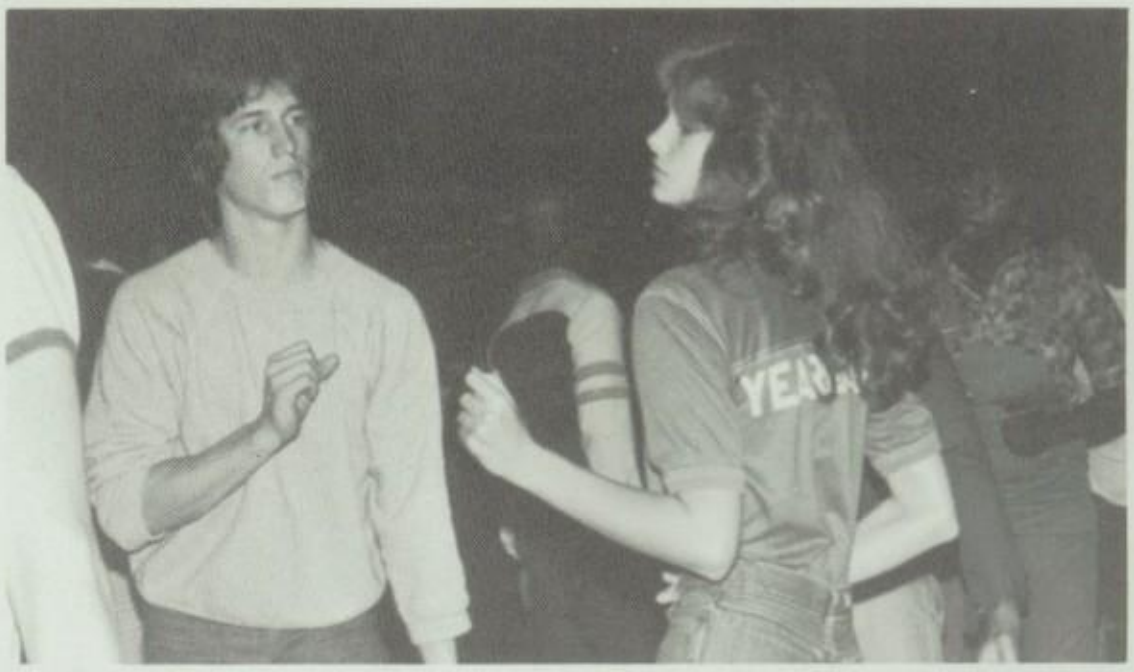
In the Lobo Band the pride shows through.

Viewettes wait patiently for their turn to perform.

The majorettes end their routine in a picture-perfect pose.

LHS Dances A Source Of Entertainment

LHS has more and more Friday night dances each year. After the games, the gym is decorated and a DJ provides the sounds. Country and disco music, with both slow and fast beats manage to please everyone. Different clubs sponsor the dances to raise money, and the club members help clean up afterwards.



Ricky Lovell and Missy Yeargain do the rock.

Time out for a coke . . . Vickey Frazier, Chad Clark.

Clapping to the beat . . . Valda Lloyd.

I don't think I'll ever learn! . . . Tammy Crawford, Rusty Russell.

LHS Clubs Initiate First Year Members

Anchor Club initiates are fit to be tied.

Initiation is an exciting part of the new year. Being slaves, wearing funny clothes, and acting the total fool are all requirements of initiates. Knowing they'll get their chance next year, new members grin and bear it. All in all, this custom of LHS is a fun experience for everyone.

New Viewettes get the goop treatment.

Costumed Thespian initiates play a game of leap frog.

Those were the good old days . . . Latin Club initiates.

The latest from Paris! . . . Z Club initiates.

Hidden Abilities Discovered

An annual talent show has become a tradition at LHS. This year, the theme of the talent show was "The Fifties". Both students and faculty alike participate in the fun. Singers, rock groups, and dancers all display their talents. Comedy also plays a big part in the presentation, and the audience is kept in stitches. Prizes are awarded to winners.

Dakota Mack sings her version of a recent pop song.

Octoberfest, Combination Of Cultures

The second annual Octoberfest successfully raised money for the four foreign language clubs at LHS. The French Club contributed such items as quiche and crepes; the Spanish Club specialized in nachos; the Latin Club offered Caesar salads; and the German Club presented sauerkraut and sausage.

No one's buying our escargot! . . . Latin Club.

Where are the jalapeños? . . . Pan Am Club.

No, we don't have French dressing! . . . Latin Club.

Much preparation goes into the Octoberfest.

LHS Decorated By Look Of Old West

Each year, on the Friday of the Marshall game, Western Day is held at LHS to symbolize roping the Mavericks. The students participate in a best western-dressed contest judged by the Student Senate officers. Cash prizes are awarded to winners. A Lobo victory ended the day on a high note.

Did you give that freshman an explosive cigar?

He really thinks he's a cool cowboy!

The best-dressed students wait to collect their prizes.

I can't believe that guy rode a horse to school! . . . Georgette Madden.

Put this tack on Marshall's bench and when they sit down . . .

Many Events Portray

The week of the Texarkana game was designated as Homecoming. Various activities such as the selections of Homecoming Queen, football sweetheart, and band and Viewette favorites; the Interact car bash; and the bonfire pep rally highlight the affair. On Saturday night a big dance is held as a grand finale to the exciting Homecoming festivities.

Look what crawled out of the wood!

Homecoming Queen Nominees: Cheryl Akin, Kim Johnson, Connie Campbell, Susan Champion, and Joy Lowrey.

Final Game, A Contest Of City Rivalry

This was the second year of the cross-town rivalry with Pine Tree. The pep rally began with a funeral procession for a deceased Pirate. Some unidentified male faculty members posed as Pine Tree cheerleaders. FCA held an ugly contest to raise money. The pep rally ended with a slide show of memories presented by the cheerleaders. The week came to a climax with a 13-0 victory for the Lobos.

Good Cheer Present At Christmastime

Santa's elf and reindeer extoll the joy of sharing.

Christmas is a time of anticipation at LHS. Various clubs participate in a window decorating contest sponsored by the Student Senate. Fourth period classes create door designs in another contest with prizes awarded. This year everyone got involved in bringing a holiday atmosphere to our school.

You call yourselves angels?!

Final details are added.

A winter scene sets the mood.

Musical Productions

Once Upon a Mattress, a musical play by J. Thompson, M. Barer, and D. Fuller, was presented in the fall by the musical comedy class. It is a take-off from the old fairy tale The Princess and the Pea. After the winter break, work on Li'l Abner began. Based on the comic strip by Al Capp, this musical is about the adventures of Daisy Mae in her quest for marriage to Li'l Abner.

The members of the royal court say the Queen insists on QUIET!

The Wizard, David Foyt, conjures up a magical potion.

Queen Aggravain orders the sensitivity test to be given at once . . . Laurie Owen.

The jester, Charlie Record, and the other court members are amazed at the appearance of Princess Winnifred, Diana Lantrip.

Performed By LHS

Daisy Mae, LeeAnn Mears, tries to convince Li'l Abner, Tedd Mitchell, that she would be a good wife for him.

Dogpatchers Bobby Daniels, Trey Thrash, and Tracy Watkins learn that the country is in the very best of hands.

Bullmoose, Ray Delk; Evil Eye Fleagle, Russell Terrell.

I won't marry you, McGoon! . . . LeeAnn Mears, Karl Hanson.

The Dogpatchers crash the society ball.

Seniors Celebrate With

The third annual Senior Celebration was a complete success. The Longview PTA spent long hours planning and working on the extravagant event. Girls wore formal evening dresses and their escorts wore tuxedos. Dr. L. Glen Neswick, Master of Ceremonies, introduced the seniors. Fourteen awards were presented to outstanding boys and girls in different areas. The event came to a close with the singing of the school song.

Seniors felt "on top of the world" on the big night.

One of the first couples heads for their seats.

Now you all line up, please! . . . Mrs. Neil Grant.

Trey, my jaw is killing me from smiling so much!

A Gala Occasion

Tim Short tells the girls not to be nervous.

Why didn't I wear white shoes?

Dr. Glen Neswick announces the outstanding seniors.

I can't believe I tripped on my dress!

Valentine's Day Full

Valentine's Day proved to be a successful time for raising money and generating excitement. FTA sold carnations which were given to students and teachers on the big day. Student Senate sold teletynes. FHA held a Valentine Dance Friday after the basketball game. Girls received gifts from their sweethearts.

Jay Morris spins the sounds for the big V-Day dance.

Charles Lee does the rock.

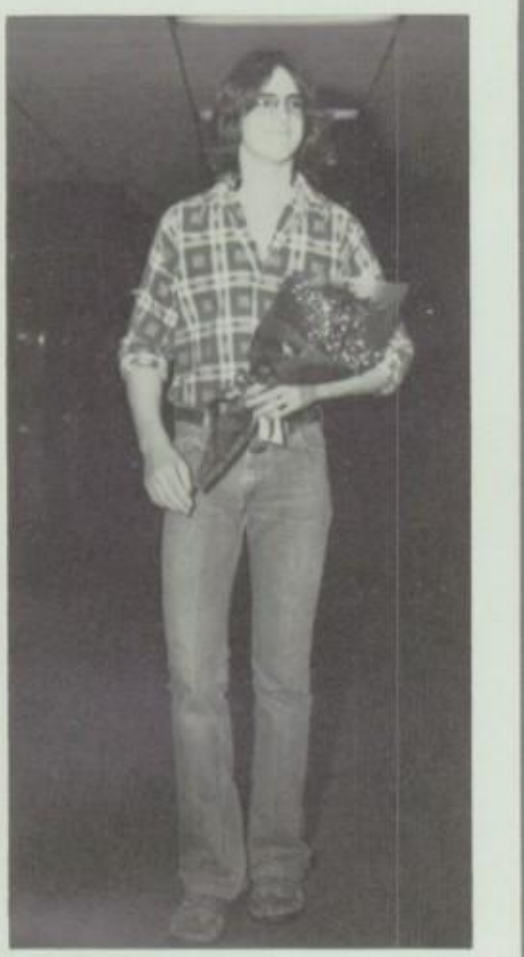
Look at me . . . Daphne George.

Bruce Wilburn grooves to the disco beat.

Of Romance And Fun

She has gotten ten teletynes! . . . Julie Thompson, Greg Grant.

Classes get into the spirit.



Who should I give these to?

Passing out carnations is fun! . . . Lauraetta Bryant.

He gave me a monkey and a flower! . . . Shaun Brown.

Viewettes Relive The

Every spring the Longview Viewettes review the year with the annual Viewette Revue. This year's theme is "Viewettes Relive the Movies", featuring more than 15 routines such as officer, Captain, prop, junior, and the High Kick Finale. A senior presentation is also part of the show. Seniors are honored with flowers from their "little sister." Much hard work and preparation went into the Revue, and it was a complete success.

Viewettes work on the "James Bond" routine.

Vicki Johnson practices with intensity.

A needed break offers a moment of relaxation.

The "Last Dance" is a strenuous kick routine.

Longview Board Plans For The Future

The Longview School Board's integrity and hard work insures security for the school system. Their dedication provides for perfection in the school, in the quality of the faculty, and in the leadership of the administration. This policy-forming body plans the school calendar and sets the school standards. The members serve to unite the school and the community into one functioning body. This provides a sturdy foundation for the intellectual growth of LISD youth.

Officers: l to r — Mr. O. L. Kimbrough, Vice-Pres.; Mr. Clarence Bailey, Pres.; Mrs. Marion Mack, Sec.; Mr. Ronny McKinney, Asst. Sec.

Dr. Bill Ford, Superintendent.

To Dr. Ford, The Key Is Leadership

Through Dr. Bill K. Ford's leadership as Superintendent, the Longview Independent School District has seen another successful academic year. In his two years with the LISD he has arranged for replacement all the new doors on classrooms in the high school, for a Community Advisory Group to study the district, and for the beautification program at the LHS campus. His job includes cooperating with the School Board and the supervision of all the schools in the Longview District. Dr. Ford is a capable leader for the Longview School District.

Neswick Creates A School Within School

Dr. Glen Neswick has created an atmosphere of "a school within a school" for the Freshman class. In past years Longview High School has had a problem with the Freshmen adjusting to high school life. To solve this, Dr. Neswick has initiated special Freshmen organizations such as their own newspaper, pep rallies, band, athletic teams, and Principals.

Dr. Neswick has continued to achieve excellence in the administration of LHS, and to improve student-teacher relations. To acquaint new and former staff members, the faculty had an ice-cream social at the beginning of the school year.

Dr. Neswick is well qualified for the task he has undertaken. He has received his Bachelor and Master's degree from Montana State University, and also his Doctor in Education from the University of Mississippi.

Oh, well, this is only my third tardy . . . Jon Draper.

It is always a sad occasion to leave behind something that has played such a major role in one's life. Every graduating class of LHS does just that when their senior year comes to an end. The senior class of '80 is unique in that they will be the first class to complete four years in the new Longview High School and the first to graduate in this new decade. Striving to reach set goals is something every high school student experiences. Many are reached and many will be reached in the future. They hope for success now and in the years to come. The seniors leave LHS with regret, but face the future with optimism. As they go, they leave behind many people, places, and things that have become a part of them, but they take with them many memories of their high school days.

With the arrival of 1980, the class of '81 moves into the final stages of high school. This year's juniors work hard to keep monotony at the minimum and enthusiasm at the maximum during their next-to-final year in high school. The anticipation of their senior year assures the slow passing of the one at hand. LHS has been a part of the juniors' lives for three years, and the newness of being a sophomore or freshman no longer exists. With the feeling of senior superiority yet to be experienced, the middlemen struggle through this in-between stage and excitedly await the coming year of leadership.
